

Dear Judy,

Thank you for your keynote, “Laughing your way out of Stress” that you did for Disney Consumer Products, global meeting. You were a hit! So many people came up to me and said that it was really a good choice to have someone with comedy background kick off our meeting. It’s not easy getting our group laughing at 9am, but you got them right at the start when you poked fun of our acronyms. How fun that you even incorporated Disney characters into your message. Even our boss Pam Lifford was on the floor, laughing at your piece on about getting Sleeping Beauty to wake up and let go of magical thinking.

Most of our group were directors from different countries and you really took the time to customize your speech, making sure everyone got it – even our reps from China .

Your message on laughing at stress continued after you left. Through the rest of the meeting, people were saying your key phrase, “Whoo-Hoo! With all the challenges we face in today’s economic climate, your keynote was a great energizer to start off our meeting on a positive note.

Whoo-Hoo!
